

Scenario 1: Simple Nested Table

Outer 2x2 table with a 2x2 inner table (blue borders) in the bottom-left cell.

Outer A1	Outer A2
Text before inner table: <table><tr><th>Inner A1</th><th>Inner A2</th></tr><tr><td>Inner B1</td><td>Inner B2</td></tr></table> Text after inner table.	Inner A1	Inner A2	Inner B1	Inner B2	Outer B2 — this cell has no nested table, just text. It should align with the cell containing the inner table.
Inner A1	Inner A2
Inner B1	Inner B2

Scenario 2: Different Border Styles

Outer table (thin black borders) contains a 2x3 inner table with thick red borders.

Header Left			Header Right
Red 1	Red 2	Red 3	Plain cell beside nested table with thick red borders.
Red 4	Red 5	Red 6

Scenario 3: Three-Level Nesting

Outer table (black) contains a middle table (blue), which contains an innermost table (green).

Outer single-column
This cell contains a middle table, which itself contains an innermost table:
Mid Header	Mid Header 2
Contains deepest table:	Mid plain cell
<table><tr><td>Deep A</td><td>Deep B</td></tr></table>	Deep A	Deep B
Deep A	Deep B
Text after the middle table.

Scenario 4: Multiple Inner Tables in One Cell

Table B: Col 1	Table B: Col 2
